

BEFORE YOU BEGIN USING LIGHTWRIGHT 4

If you're used to using Lightwright 3, you'll find that a lot has changed! Please print out the LW4 Upgrade Notes and read through them before you sit down to use this new version for the first time.

If this is your first outing with Lightwright, you'll want to work through (and probably print) the Getting Started manual. It includes a Quick-Start section, tutorials in all of the major features, and a quick reference.

For complete information about any part of Lightwright, refer to the LW4 Reference. And remember, all of these are PDF files, which means they can be electronically searched.

Unlike the Goliaths of the software world who release “Service Packs” only after hundreds of bugs have been found, I have a strong belief that software bugs should be eliminated as quickly as possible. That means that I release updates very frequently, sometimes as often as once a month. Please make it a regular habit to point your web browser at <http://www.mckernon.com> and look under Support to check for updates.

If you move or change your email address, please visit the “Contact” section of the web site. As bugs are found, I can notify you about them only if I can reach you.

Finally, if you have any suggestions for new features or improvements to the way Lightwright works, please let me know.

Enjoy!
